

MAY

The Price of Liberty is eternal Vigilance

WHOLE NO. 1375.

...men expires on the first of May. These

Countertopping Confederates. Most of them are not to be profitable business among the Yankees. The other day we gave an advertisement from Harper's War Weekly, one of the ragues engaged in the business. Here is another from a Cincinnati paper:

"Two simle Confederate Scrip of the last issue, perfect in plate, paper and signature, and in good order, banking house in the Confederacy. One scrip will insure us another order. Not for less than $150 sold. Address, with reference to the above."

enclosed. JAS. SLAYTON,
"Lock Box 780, Cincinnati Postoffice." See with what assurance and compli-cency the rascal assures his fellow rogues that this stuff "will pass at any banking house in the Confederacy."

Q U E E N V I C T O R I A I N T H E L I T E R A T U R E .—The Queen of England has translated Zschokke's "Reflections upon Death and Eternity." It will appear under the nom de plume of "Frederick Rowena." The preface consists of only these lines: "This book has been translated by one to whom, in the overwhelming depression of grief, it has been a source of comfort and edification."

BLACKBERRY WINE.

The following is said to be an excellent receipt for the manufacture of superior blackberry wine:

Measure berries and bruise them, to every gallon adding one quart of boiling water; let the mixture stand twenty-four hours—stirring occasionally—then strain off the liquor into casks, to every gallon adding two pounds of sugar—cork tight, and let stand till full owing to the fermentation. It may be bottled in October, and you will have wine ready for use, without any further straining or boiling, that will make your lips smack as they never smacked under similar influence before.

OUR FINANCIAL SITUATION—The Richmond Whig says: "We have the

the most emphatic and valuable encouragement in the tidings from England that Corn notes are selling there at a premium and that more than fifty millions of dollars have been offered for investment. It will require but a moderate amount of financial ability to turn this fact to the most material advantage to us. Our currency ought soon to be equal to gold and will be, if Mr. Meuninger will on

A GALLANT ALABAMIAN.—One of the most daring and successful forays, says Montgomery Advertiser, which has been accomplished by our cavalry in Tennessee, was conducted by Capt. Warren C. Reese, of Alabama, who is nephew of Colonel J. R. Powell of this city. A special dispatch to the Mobile Advertiser and Register, dated McMinnville, April 19th, says:

Capt. Reese, commanding Wheeler's escort, with a detachment of about fifty men, swam the Cumberland river this morning, and attacked a body of Stokes' cavalry, about one hundred strong, about three miles from Huntsville.

They killed a large number, and took some thirty prisoners. He captured a large number of valuable horses and small arms, and a wagon train accompanied by a drove of Kentucky beefs, numbering about one hundred.

Capt. Keesee then recrossed the river and brought off his prisoners, horses, arms and beaves in safety.

A number of blockade runners have recently arrived at Mobile. The papers of that city say the skipper laugh at the Yankee blockade.

The "local" of the Mobil' Register says there is only one thing that thrills a true lover of natural beauty more than an early stroll among the flowers and gorgeous forests in spring time, and that is kissing a pretty girl immediately after her morning toilet.

Ed. Mr. David Bookman, of Lexington District, South Carolina, is furnishing a large number of families with corn at one dollar per bushel, grinding it clear of toll, withal.

Friendship. A. WYATT, announced himself as a candidate for reelection to the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. Election next Monday in August next.

A School Wanted.

A Gentleman, amply qualified, is desirous of procuring a School in some pleasant country neighborhood. If agreeable to parties, and himself, would remain permanently. Inquire at "Republican" office.

The News is still of little interest, except the late Yankee raid into Mississippi, in which it is hoped they will get intercepted and cut off. The Yankees are said to be waiting in confident expectation that the South will soon be starved into submission. The prospect of innocent women and children starting to death, no doubt suits the brotherly affections of the kind-hearted Yankees much better than meeting Southern soldiers and layabouts. But, thanks to a kind and beneficent Providence, from present appearances they are doomed in this expectation, as well as almost everything else, to bitter disappointment. They will probably come much nearer warring the Southern army and people with anxiety and impatience by their tardy movements. We still look, however, every day, for important movements and intensely exciting news from Virginia and Tennessee.

Prices generally have taken a downward tumble, within the last few days, supposed to be the effect of the recent heavy tax bill, and the very fine prospect of a fine wheat crop all over the country. Gold is declining and confidence in our currency rapidly reviving.

Just from the North.—We have had the pleasure of conversing with a Confederate officer who left New York as recently as Saturday last. He was not permitted to hold written or verbal communication with any one, but gathered from the tone of the press, and especially from the New York Herald, that the Union would not be enforced, and if attempted will make bloody work. He heard an official in high position, remark that such an attempt would provoke a more desperate and bitter war than the South now exists between the North and the South. The general tone of his remarks is encouraging. He talks with him numerous tokens of Northern sympathy for our cause, in the shape of purses, pen-knives, &c., which had been presented to him, and speaks of having received attention from many who wished the South success. At one town in Ohio, the landlord of the hotel at which he and his companions were stopping cancelled their bill; and at another place in Illinois, the landlord charged the usual sum of a quarter of a dollar, and set the best of wine before them—the Yankee officers in charge of the prisoners being present. Frank Leslie's Illustrated News of the 11th, has a significant caricature representing Abe Lincoln as a toy goose floating in a basin of water, attracted by a conical dagger, upon which is pointed the word "GOLD." The lure is too strong to resist, and Abe rushes eagerly on to wards its fatal point.

Announcement of the SINK of Washington, N. C.—The Washington Journal of Monday evening says:

"We have received positive information of the falling back of Gen. Hill's troops from around Washington, and that the attack on that place has been abandoned at least for a time. Gen. Hill, we learn from passengers was in Galesburg, Ga. We presume it was considered unnecessary to take Washington, unless Hill's Point, on the south side of the river, could have been fortified with long range guns, so as to prevent the enemy's gunboats from reaching the river above that point. There is no doubt in our mind that Gen. Hill could easily have taken Washington and would have done so, had he deemed it advisable under the circumstances. Our correspondent says: 'The Yankee gunboats having longer range guns than ours, they had shelled Hill's Point batteries, doing some damage, while our guns could not reach them. Our ordinance has all been secured in the evacuation or falling back of our troops from around Washington. The reported advance of 20,000 Yankees from Northern troops out to be enormous. It is not our business to say where Gen. Hill's forces are at present.'

The Yankee machine called the Devil, designed for the removal of impediments, has been located at Charleston, and falling into the hands of the Confederates.

The Devil has done a great deal of damage in three past, but as Beauregard has now succeeded in capturing him, we hope he will be kept within bounds in the future.

From SCROLL.—From this point the reports which reach us are of an important character. These state that the battery of Capt. Selby, connected with Gen. French's division, was surprised and captured on Sunday night at Keokuk Farm, on the Nansenford River. It is stated that 10 of our men were captured at the same time. Passengers by the train from Petersburg last night, confirm the report. During the forenoon of Monday, heavy firing was heard in the direction of Suffolk, supposed to result from an engagement between the gunboats of the enemy and our artillery. Gen. Lee's troops moved from his headquarters at an early hour on Monday morning.—Richmond Dispatch 227.

Latest News.

From the Selma Reporter.

ORANGE, April 23

RICHMOND, April 27.

Gold is heavy to-day, and has declined 30 to 75 cents.

OBITUARY.

DIED.—On the 12th April last, at his residence near Oxford, after a long and painful illness, DUDLEY SNOO, in the 60th year of his age. His disease (dropsy of the chest), was attended by indescribable suffering, which, though protracted, was born throughout with remarkable fortitude.

In this disposition, our community has lost one of its earliest and most valuable citizens. A little more than thirty years ago, he came to this country from Maine county, Tenn., and settled the farm on which he died. The land was then in the land, and the head of industry had done little to reclaim those beautiful fields from the barren wilderness. Thus surrounded he began the career of life. That career is run, that life is ended. His labors and rewards, his joys and sorrows, his successes and disappointments are finished.

Since Mr. Snow was for many years a prominent citizen of this community, and, besides, had an extensive acquaintance. It will not, we hope, be unprofitable in this humble tribute to his memory to mention some things worthy of commemoration. He was a noble example of stability, decision and integrity of character. Nobody has ever done much in this world without these essential qualities, and with them, few have failed to do something worthy of memory.

They made him the non-hygienic true to his principles, devoted to the cause he espoused, and faithful to his friends. Temperate, industrious and economical in his habits, liberal in his views of education and public improvement; active, energetic, persevering, no wonder that he was a successful man. Successful, not merely in the accumulation of property, but in the rearing of a most respectable, intelligent and virtuous family; successful in relieving himself an honorable distinction in those noble qualities which constitute the good citizen, husband and father; successful in exerting a good influence among his fellow men by an example of piety, sobriety and uprightness.

The house was the abode of hospitality and friendship, and it was here that his daughter was seen in his most lovely form. But he is gone, and his family mourn an irreparable loss. Though he died suddenly, it was not unexpected. For sometime before hand he was afflicted by his approaching dissolution, and only a few hours before his departure spoke freely of the exercises of his mind on the subject of his preparation. His friends fondly hope that his hopes expressed on this occasion, was well founded, though they would by no means have any one follow his example in post, of the great duties of religion.

Twice, in less than one year, has death invaded this family circle. In September last, George P. Snow, (a son of D. Snow), was attacked with violent disease, while on his march to the theatre of war, and was in a few days brought home a corpse, to be interred in the family graveyard. Like his father, he was endowed with faculties which, exercised, would have made him a useful and successful man. Faithful and upright, industrious and persevering, he prospered in business, and enjoyed the confidence of his friends. May God sanctify those afflictions, and so part the widow and mother in her trials.

Departed this life on the 12th Feb., 1858, at the small-pox hospital, near Guinea Station Va, Sergeant Z. B. Baird, son of J. C. Baird, of Ladoga, Ala., in the 20th year of his age. He died of small pox after several days of suffering. He was a gallant and brave young man, having entered the service as a private in the first company that was raised in Calhoun county. When the State troops were turned over to the Confederate Government, he, in company with several others, returned home, but not to remain, for he soon entered the service in the gallant Fifth Ala. Batt. He was ever at his post during the battles around Richmond. He shared in the victories which blessed our arms at Cedar Run, Second Manassas and Fredericksburg, and came out unhurt. When facing the enemy he sustained himself with great gallantry, and as a reward for his gallant conduct in battle, he was promoted to sergeant's place in his company, a short time before his death. He was a young man of more than ordinary promise. The Confederate army lost in his death a faithful soldier. He bore his last sickness and met death with the fortitude of a patriot soldier. The writer of this imperfect sketch, once his companion in arms, in mourning his loss, offers his heartfelt sympathies to his father in the loss of his son.

E. T. S.

DIED.—At Vicksburg, Miss., on the 20th day of April of pneumonia, Mr. Tyro Harrison, musician, 31st Alabama, aged 28 years. Mr. Harrison has been long and favorably known by many of the citizens of Calhoun county as a man who possessed a warm heart. He leaves behind an aged mother, many relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Carolina Spartan please copy. Ruff McKinnis, Capt. Co. F, 31st Ala. Reg.

DIED.—At the hospital of Greenville Butler county, Feb. 18th, 1863, Mr. R. H. Robinson, son of John and M. H. Robinson. He was born in Lincoln county, N. C., and came to Calhoun county, Ala., in the year 1838, where he lived until March 1862, at which time he entered the service of his country. He was a member of Co. A, 2nd Ala. Cavalry. He was a good soldier, and well beloved by his officers and fellow soldiers. He has left a wife and four small children to mourn his loss. He was a good Christian, and died at peace with God and all men; may our loss be his eternal gain. Then parents and wife cry up your tears, and endeavor to live near the Cross of Christ, that when you go hence your death, like his, may be that of the righteous. J. D.

A late letter from Brownsville, published in the San Antonio, Texas, Herald, says: "A Yankee ship was wrecked on our side of the Rio Grande, a few days since. We got 1500 barrels of flour, 15,000 sacks of corn a lot of shoes hats, etc. We took twelve Yankee prisoners, who were taken to Brownsville. That will help the troops here, especially the 3d regiment."

THE NEW TAX BILL.
We present below as by far the most important matter that we could lay before our readers, a full and accurate synopsis of the bill to lay taxes for the common defense and carry on the Government of the Confederate States, which has passed both branches of Congress. The bill now only awaits the signature of the President to become a law.—Charleston Mercury
The first section imposes a tax of eight per cent on the value of all naval stores, salt, wines and spirituous liquors, tobacco—manufactured or un-manufactured—cotton, wool, flour, sugar, molasses, syrup, rice and other agricultural products, held or stored on the first day of July next, and not necessary for family consumption, for the unexpired portion of the year 1863; and of the growth or production of any year preceding the year 1863; and a tax of one percent, upon all moneys, bank notes or other currency in hand or on deposit on the 1st day of July next, and on the value of all credits on which the interest has not been paid, and not employed in a business, the income derived from which is taxed under the provisions of this act: Provided, that all moneys owned, held or deposited beyond the limits of the Confederate States, shall be valued at the current rate of exchange in Confederate Treasury notes. The tax to be assessed on the first day July and to be collected on the first day October next, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable.

2. Every person engaged, or intending to engage, in any business, named in the fifth section, shall within sixty days, after the passage of the Act, or at the time of beginning business, and on the 1st of January in each year thereafter, register with the District Collector a true account of the name and residence of each person, firm or corporation engaged or interested in the business, with a statement of the time for which and the place and manner, in which the same is to be conducted, &c.
At the time of the registry there shall be paid the specific tax for the year ending on the next 31st December, and such other tax as may be due upon sales or receipts in said business.

3. Any person failing to make such registry and pay such tax, shall, in addition to all other taxes upon his business imposed by the Act, pay double the amount of the specific tax on his business, and a like sum for every thirty days of such failure.

4. Requires a separate registry and tax for each business mentioned in the 5th section, and for each place of conducting the same; but no tax for more storage of goods at a place other than the registered place of business. A new registry required upon every change in the place of conducting a registered business, upon the death of any person conducting the same, or upon the transfer of the business to another, but no additional tax.

5. Imposes the following taxes for the year ending the 31st December 1863,
and for each year thereafter:
Bankers pay $500.
Auctioneers, retail dealers, tobacconists, pedlars, cattle brokers, apothecaries, photographers, and confectioners $200 and two and a half per centum on the gross amount of sales made.
Wholesale dealers in liquors, $100, and five per centum on gross amount of sales.

Retail dealers in liquors $100, and ten per centum on gross amount of sales.
Wholesale dealers in groceries, goods, wares, merchandise, &c., $2 00 and two and a half per centum.
Pawnbrokers, Money and Exchange
Brokers, $200.
Liquorists $200, and twenty per centum. Brewers, $100, and two and a half per centum.

Hotels, Inns, Taverns and Eating Houses first class $500, second class $3 00, third class $200, fourth $100, fifth $50. Every house where food or refreshments are sold, and every boarding house where there shall be six boarders or more, shall be deemed an eating house under this act.

Commercial, brokers or commission merchants, $200 and two and a half per centum.
Theatres, $500, and five per centum on all receipts. Each circus $100, and $10 for each exhibition. Jugglers and other persons exhibiting shows, $50.
Bowling alleys and billiard saloons, $10 for each alley or table registered.

Livery stable keepers, lawyers, physicians, surgeons and dentists, $50.
Putchers and bakers, $50, and one
per centum.

6. Every person registered and taxed is required to make returns of the gross amount of sales from the passage of the act to the 30th of June, 1863, and every three months thereafter.

7. A tax upon all salaries, except of persons in the military or naval service, of one per cent. when not exceeding $1500, and two per cent upon an excess over that amount: Provided, That no taxes shall be imposed by virtue of this act on the salary of any person receiving a salary not exceeding $1,000 per annum, or at a like rate for another period of time, longer or shorter.

8. Provides that the tax on annual incomes, between $500 and $1400, shall any year preceding 1863, imposed in the first section, shall be levied and collected on 1st July for the present year;

FAST DAY IN CAMP CHASE.
We copy the following fragment of a discourse from the Richmond Enquirer of the 10th ult. The author, Rev. O. C.
Gillespie, will be remembered by many of our readers, as a former member of the Alabama Conference, sent to this his first Circuit, and if we remember correctly, he preached his first sermon in Jacksonville.

FAST DAY IN CAMP CHASE.
Seldom has any document more profoundly touched me than the following fragment of a discourse to our Confederate now captives in Camp Chase, Ohio. It was brought to us by an officer just returned from his captivity; and the paper on which it was written was concealed in a cake of bread.

Noble patriotism of our captive brethren.
The ardent zeal of Col. Gillespie, and the insolent interruption of the Yankee officer of the guard, form a picture which many a Confederate will contemplate proudly, not without tears.
FAST DAY DISCOURSE, MARCH, 27, 1862.

Preached by Col. C. C. Gillespie, of the 25th Texas Cavalry, before the Confederate officers and soldiers in Camp Chase, prison No. 8.

Gentlemen and Fellow Soldiers: This is the day appointed by our honored and pious President as a day of "fasting, humiliation and prayer," that the blessings of Almighty God may rest upon our country, and especially upon our arms. I have, in the name of Gen.
Churchill, and of the officers and soldiers in this prison, asked the privilege of observing the day in our own way, by holding divine service. This has been granted by the authorities of this place, for which we are thankful, though it would seem that this is a privilege which could hardly be denied. We are confined within walls, guarded by soldiers on the ramparts, and our sentiment, however earnestly expressed, cannot possibly do any harm to the cause of the enemy.

I call your attention to the first six verses of the one hundred and thirty-seventh Psalm:

"By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down; yea we wept when we remembered Zion. We hung our harps upon the willows in the midst thereof.
For there they that carried us away captive required of us a song; and they that wasted as required of us mirth, saying, 'sing us one of the songs of Zion.' How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land? If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning; if I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy."

Gentlemen, there is a striking resemblance between our present condition and that of the old Hebrew patriots whose beautiful and enthusiastic words able, sacred, dear, is involved. We are fighting for everything that makes life desirable, valuable and noble. If we lose we have nothing left to live for. We are fighting for our honor—for the honor of one of the most honorable and chivalrous races upon earth. The aim of the political warfare waged against us was to destroy our civil honor, and to disgrace our national dignity. It was to withdraw from dishonoring associations, and to preserve our dignity unimpaired, that we sought to live for ourselves. And now degradation is sought to be forced upon us by the sword. And if, by possibility, the South should ultimately be forced to humble her honor before the hated power opposed to her she will be ruined forever. The proud and chivalrous Southern people, should the narrow and backbone of their character—their honor—be destroyed, would be the most worthless race upon earth. The highest when they fall become the lowest.

Paradoxical as it may seem, we are fighting for peace. Although earnestly desiring it, we have been denied this legitimate fruit of the blood of our revolutionary sires for the last twenty-five years. The race that has troubled and persecuted friend and stranger for centuries, from motives of domination and discord, must needs trouble what they claimed as their own country and those whom they regarded as their own countrymen. And when peace in such association became hopeless, and we sought to go quietly to ourselves, the intolerant fraternity was sought to be forced upon us at the point of the bayonet. War is being waged upon us to force us to come back and live with them and quarrel with them forever. Could a people, and the war they wage assume more hateful aspects?

There is great wickedness in all wars and the responsibility for a war is an awful one; but we are not responsible for the present war. It was forced upon us. We declare before Heaven and in the face of mankind, that we desire only to be left alone, in the language of our noble President, is the sentiment of our people, and their motto in this war, and has already become historical. We sought to infringe upon no rights, to destroy no interests, to take no lives. The guilt of the immense bloodshed and war, and waste of this war, rests upon other heads than ours.

The character of the war is with us, essentially and necessarily religious. Our loyalty, like that of these ancient Hebrew patriots, is, or should be, both pious and patriotic. The yoking to the glorious memory of "Jerusalem" both as their capital city and the seat of the Temple. Everything dear and sacred is religious, and so are the obligations and duties connected therewith. Domestic, social and political blessings, all depend upon the sanctities of religion. In its simplest form, the war with us is for freedom of conscience—freedom to interpret the Bible and worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. On the part of our enemies, failing to convince us by their eloquence and sophisticated logic, they seek to force their opinions upon us.

The war, with us, should become religious in view of the past wrongs done us, the blood already shed, the suffering already endured, the hatred and unjust oppression sought to be imposed upon us, the unpardonable character of the contest and the overwhelming odds against us.

Morover, consider the religious character of the sympathies of stirring around every Confederate soldier and officer. Daily, and nightly, our wives, mothers, sisters, fathers, children and friends, lift their praying hands to the throne of Heavenly grace in our behalf. To-day all over our land, where the sanctuary has not been desecrated, nor the fires of the burning of the altar, and where the cheering feet of the powerful assembly still come, and the accustomed voice is still heard in the pulpit, how many prayers go up to God for us!

Can the South be our home, if it should with all these sacred treasures of the heart, become the prey of the spoiler? Never will I live in that glorious land after it shall have been despoiled and degraded!

There officers on the wall, in response and said:

Mr. President, if you will preach a religious sermon, you can go on; but if you want to make a war speech, you had better stop.

Col. Gillespie replied:

"We have obtained permission to hold this service in our own way."

Officer: "If you will stick to the book, we will hear you; but we don't want a war speech."

Col. G.: "I do not intend it for you."

Officer: "You must preach a religious sermon."

Col. G.: "We will cease if you command it, but I will not suffer you to dictate what I shall say."

Gen. Churchill, rising: "That's right, Churchill; let us not go on unless we are free." And the assembly dispersed, clapping hands and cheering, and one man cried out: "Hallelujah for Jeff Davis!" The officer of the guard called out: "Halt that man!" but he could not be distinguished in the crowd.

The above, of course, is a mere outline of the remarks on the occasion, taken hastily from the notes after service. The meeting was held in the open, muddy, street, with guards on the wall all round.

Parties connected with the Yankee Government, propose to arrest and execute Brigham Young, and other Mormon leaders, in order to quell a "rebellion" among the "saints."

OUR NEW TERMS.

The attention of those interested is invited to our new terms, published in today's paper.

We have procured a supply of paper sufficient for this year; and though at a cost near double that of our previous bill, we shall not increase the price of our paper. But, as it is as much as we can do to supply papers to those who pay us, we shall send to no more new subscribers, unless they pay in advance. We shall continue to stop the papers of those who owe for one or more years. If they find their papers stopped they will know the cause, and if they wish them continued, they can have it done by paying up.

We would be glad to receive advance subscriptions, from as many of our patrons as can make it convenient. It might prove an advantage to themselves as well as us, by securing a paper at lower rates than they could do hereafter.

NEW YANKEE PROGRAMME.

The Yankee papers have announced that their armies will hereafter act upon the defensive, despoiling of subduing us by an adherence to their previous programme, and we have been informed by a gentleman who conversed with some of the prisoners at Rome, that it was boldly and tauntingly declared by them that, ere July had closed, the whole South would be laid waste by just such raids as the one in which they had been engaged. Their movements, as well as their declarations, establish the fact that, despairing of subjugating the South, or of successfully contending against our force by fair means, and the purpose of rules of civilized warfare to be ignored, and the country overrun by marauding bands, to lay waste the land, destroying our growing crops, burning our furniture and factories, and whatever else contributes to our success and existence as a people. Thus they hope to reduce and starve us into submission to the Lincoln despotism. Carried out as these raids have been inaugurated, there is no calculating the injury they may inflict upon us, despite the best and most speedy organizations we can effect for resistance. It is virtually an abandonment of all honorable warfare, and a raising of the black flag for their future operations. Hence it becomes our duty to inquire, not only how we may best resist this threatened Yankee invasion, and protect our homes and families, but in what character we shall receive the depredations. Shall we still adhere to our course of treating them as honorable antagonists, or shall we, in sheer justice to ourselves, deal with them as the outlaws and robbers they are? Have they not by their actions, aggravated by their taunting avowals, placed themselves beyond the pale of humanity? And is there one incentive, founded in justice, or even compassion, for our noting out to them other than a state of all midnight assassinations, the depredations of peaceful homes, and the ruthless destroyers of maternity virtue and maiden purity? These are questions which, to doubt, are beginning to suggest themselves to every Southerner, and, we opine, there is no hesitation or difference as to the answer.

If the Yankees persist in this system of plunder and robbery, we shall be forced to make it a war of extermination, and a war of destruction and devastation on their side.

PRISONERS AND SPOILS.

We have been informed by Mr. L. C. Mitchell, who went with others from this place to Rome, soon after the news of the Yankee advance reached here, that Gen. Forrest reached there with 1,500 prisoners, 2,000 stand of arms, 200 mules, 400 horses, and about 20 negroes, among the number six Ohio free negroes, one of whom was claimed by a Yankee Major as his private property, under the terms of capitulation; but this claim was not allowed by Gen. Forrest, and the whole six will be sold and the proceeds divided among his men. This information is correct, Mr. M. having been present, and careful to be accurate. The Alabamians were two companies from Winston county, piloted by a man raised in Floyd Co., four miles from Rome. The prisoners, including the two companies, were paroled, and the 95 commissioned officers sent to Atlanta to be retained under the President's order. The pilot was committed to jail, on the ground that he had formerly been in the Confederate service in the 5th Ga. Reg't. General

Forrest had three small blank books in his breast pocket, which were struck by a musket ball, passing through two, and entering the third immediately over his heart. His brother was seriously wounded and left on Sand Mountain.

FALSE RUMORS.

Rumors reached this place on Tuesday evening, that a large Yankee force were near Elyton, striking for the A. R. & T. R. R. and towards Selma. Many citizens immediately left for the scene of expected conflict; but, although a courier brought the news, with some show of truth, it turned out that there was scarcely a pretext for this alarm—not a Yankee being near the rumored point. On Wednesday the excitement was increased by intelligence brought direct from Gadsden that fifteen Yankee regiments were advancing in that direction. This also proved unfounded—the fact more probably being that every Yankee within unsafe distance of Forrest's command was making the speediest kind of tracks towards Rosecrans's army.

A TRUE HEROINE.

An incident connected with the recent Yankee raid is worthy of record. When Gen. Forrest arrived at Black Creek, 8 miles from Gadsden, in hot pursuit of the Vandals, he found his progress checked by a swollen stream and a demolished bridge, while a detachment of the enemy lingered behind to dispute his passage to the opposite side. Ignorant of the fact, if indeed there were any, Gen. Forrest himself rode back in quest of the necessary information. At the first house he made the inquiry whether there was any person who could pilot his command across the stream, to which a young lady made reply—no male person being present—that she knew the ford, and that if she had a horse she would accompany and direct him. There being no time for ceremony, Gen. Forrest proposed that she should get up behind him, to which, with no maiden coyness, but actuated only by the heroic impulse to serve her country, she at once consented. Her mother, however, overhearing the suggestion, and sensitively alive to her daughter's safety and honor, interposed the objection. "Sir, my child cannot accompany a stranger." "Madam," respectfully urged the far-famed chieftain, "my name is Forrest, and I will be responsible for this young lady's safety." "Oh," rejoined the good woman, "if you are Gen. Forrest she can go with you!"

Mounted behind the General, she piloted him across the stream, exposed to the whistling bullets of the enemy; nor did she retire from her post of danger until the last man had safely crossed, and the column seen in continuance of its rapid pursuit, accompanied by her earnest prayers for success.

GEN. FORREST IN ROME.

The Rome Courier gives an interesting account of the raid, and of the reception given to Gen. Forrest and his command, which we can only give in a condensed form. Information reached there about 2 o'clock on Sunday morning of the threatened advance, borne by Mr. Wisdom, from Gadsden, after a hard ride of eleven hours. Preparations were immediately commenced for their reception—two pieces of artillery commanding the road and the bridge, and cotton barricades being erected at all the defiles near the city, whilst volunteers were sent out to watch the enemy's approach. During the morning dispatches were received from Gen. Forrest urging our commander to hold them array for a few hours at all hazards, and information, about 2 o'clock, that he was fighting them at Gaylesville with an inferior force.

About 9 o'clock some 200 of their advance reached the environs of the city, where they were bold enough to dismount and feed, at the same time picking up all the horses and mules in the neighborhood, and taking some citizens prisoners. About 3 o'clock they retreated down the Alabama road, pursued by a small but resolute band of mounted citizens.

In the meantime Gen. Forrest had overtaken the main body, and with but 700 men compelled their surrender, as we have elsewhere stated. Our loss does not exceed 20 men, while fully 300 of the enemy were killed and wounded—among them Col. Hathaway of Indiana. Col. Straight of Indiana commanded the Yankee forces.

The generous and noble-hearted people of Rome, received Gen. Forrest and his gallant command, as their deliverers in the hour of extreme peril. A salute of 20 guns was fired—a thousand Ladies strewed their paths with flowers, and welcomed them with smiles and tears of gratitude and joy—the houses were thrown open, and they were feasted to their heart's content.

200 RECREANT ALABAMIANS!

1520 Federalists Captured!

Great Excitement and Rejoicing!

Yankee Raids have recently become the order of the day, in imitation of the grand dashes of Stewart, Forrest, Morgan and Wheeler; but, unlike the enterprises of Confederate heroes, theirs have proved a counterpart of other Federal blunders.

Emboldened by the success of their recent marauding expedition into Mississippi, another plundering, pillaging, burning, destructive foray was set on foot having Rome, Ga., for its point of attainment, and all intermediate points as legitimate theatres of burning and plunder.

On Saturday night last, about 3 o'clock our town was thrown into considerable excitement, by the arrival of Capt. Isaac P. Morgan, with the intelligence that a body of Yankee Cavalry, from North Alabama numbering from 200 to 1,000, had arrived at Gadsden, 21 miles west of this place. After remaining some three hours, destroying the ferry-boats and robbing private citizens, they left in the direction of Rome, keeping on the west side of the Coosa river. In a short time, Mr. Woolam, stage driver on the Rome Road, and Capt. R. G. Harris left for Rome, and a small body of our citizens armed themselves, taking the same direction, hoping to intercept and assist in the capture of the insolent robbers and invaders.

On Sunday evening a letter was received from Mr. Stiff, P. M. at Centre, that they were within 5 miles of that point, had burned the Round Mountain Iron Works the night before, and that Gen. Forrest was hard after them about two hours behind. The mail carrier from Asheville brought a confirmation of Forrest's pursuit. On Sunday night about midnight, Capt. Bowie, of Talladega, passed through our place, with some sixty citizens, armed and mounted, intending to join in the pursuit.

Intelligence was brought on the same evening, that at Turkeytown, a body of armed citizens had intercepted them, when a brisk little fight occurred, in which one Yankee "colonel" and five of his miscreants were killed—our gallant men suffering the loss of one killed and several wounded.

Various rumors, more or less exciting, reached us, up to Monday evening, when Capt. Bowie returned with his company, bringing the glorious intelligence that Gen. Forrest, with 700 cavalry, had overtaken them at Cedar Bluff, where they had prepared to burn the town. They retreated some 4 miles and formed a line of battle. Gen. Forrest demanded their unconditional surrender, to which, after a short consultation, they agreed, surrendering 1,520 strong, with the same number of arms, two fine pieces of artillery, horses &c., and their stolen plunder.

All of Sunday, and even up to Monday, the excitement continued—armed citizens continually passing toward the threatened point. One hundred, probably, left from this neighborhood, while between here and Rome, the country literally swarmed with volunteer defenders of our soil from ruthless Yankee invasion—such a rolling, swelling surge of Southerners—old men and boys—as no Yankee raid could withstand!

Thus have the Yankees been taught that raids into this portion of Alabama and Georgia are neither profitable or wholesome; whilst our own loyal citizens are encouraged by the certainty that, despite the treason and treachery of the few, there is, in their united and willing arms, ample strength to teach the projectors of all similar raids, that the country is not yet defenceless or the material for Southern soldiers yet exhausted.

Two suggestions, in this connection, may be indulged—both within Government province and the individual mercy and justice of the citizens whose homes have been invaded, and whose rights have been outraged: First, let every mother's son of the 200 tory Alabamians reported captured with the Yankee invaders be hung higher than Haman, without the benefit of clergy, as a partial punishment for the enormity of their crime, and a wholesome lesson to all future traitors. Secondly, and most important of all, let the Government distribute among the citizens of unprotected districts, likely to be invaded, a portion of its surplus arms, and an adequate supply of ammunition, and, our word for it, they will be able to protect themselves from a future depredations.

Yankees Driven to the Rappahannock.

GEN. PAXTON KILLED.

STONEWALL JACKSON, HEATH AND A. P. HILL WOUNDED.

Richmond, May 4.

To President Davis:

Yesterday Gen. Jackson penetrated to the rear of the enemy and drove them from their positions from the wide river to within one mile of Chancellorsville. They were engaged at the same time in front by two of Longstreet's Division.

This morning the battle was renewed and they were driven from all their positions around Chancellorsville, and back to the Rappahannock, over which they are now retreating. Many prisoners were taken, and the enemy's loss in killed and wounded was large.

We have again to thank Almighty God for a great victory.

I regret to state that Gen. Paxton was killed; Gen. Jackson severely wounded, Gen. Heath and A. P. Hill slightly wounded.

(Signed) R. E. Lee, Commanding.

A dispatch from Gordonsville received at the War Department says that Dr. Woodford, who left Chancellorsville at 3 o'clock yesterday evening, reports that the light is still going on at Fredericksburg. Gen. Jackson occupies all the forts except El's and He's. We have taken five thousand prisoners and more were coming in. Our men were in condition. No enemy in Culpeper.

JACKSON, May 5.

The enemy were repulsed yesterday at Anderson's Ferry, on Big Black, after four hours' severe fighting.

JACKSON, May 5.

The enemy are reported in force near Edwards's Depot, four miles this side of Big Black. They have captured one hundred of our pickets.

Richmond, May 5.

No official dispatches were received last night or this morning from Gen. Lee's headquarters, but private telegrams say our victory was complete.

Gen. Jackson's left arm was skillfully amputated below the shoulder, by Dr. McGuin of Winchester. The General was removed to a private house about fifteen miles distant from the battlefield as is doing well.

Direct railroad communication with our army has not yet been established. A guide of the midday was captured yesterday at Turnstall's Station, on the York River Railroad, where skirmishing occurred between the Yankees and a few Confederate infantry.

Richmond, May 6.

The following was received from Guinea, near Fredericksburg, this evening, dated May 6th.

To His Excellency President Davis:

At the close of the battle of Chancellorsville on Sunday, the enemy was reported advancing from Fredericksburg on our rear, when Gen. McLaws was sent back to arrest his progress, and repulsed him handsomely that afternoon. Learning that their forces consisted of two corps under Gen. Sedgwick, he determined to attack them, and marched back yesterday with Gen. Anderson's Division, uniting with McLaws. In the afternoon we succeeded, by the blessing of Heaven, in driving Gen. Sedgwick over the river.

We have re-occupied Fredericksburg and no enemy remains south of the Rappahannock in its vicinity.

(Signed) R. E. Lee, General.

Richmond, May 6. The Dispatch was issued extra this evening, giving the first details of the battle near Chancellorsville ever received. The correspondent states the fight in many respects was one of the bloodiest of the war. Our army, both in officers and men, the enemy had driven up to reinforcements and constructed abatis, which after hard fighting, were captured by our troops.

Arg. G. N. S. of Col. Cowdin's corps, is among the prisoners, who represent some forty-eight regiments, mostly foreign.

News from Vicksburg.—From Vicksburg we learn that the Yankee ram sunk by our batteries on the 1st Wednesday was a wreck was the Lancaster—a first class gunboat. The craft floated past the batteries in a crippled condition, and was towed ashore below by the Albatross, one of the vessels that passed Fort Hudson, turns out to be the ram Monitor. She is rapidly reported to be a "total" wreck. $6,000 makes six gunboats and a frigate, lost by the Yankees within the past three months on the Mississippi River. The hull of the Lancaster was not saved as was reported, by the Albatross.

over the General.

Soon after four of our men placed him on a stretcher, and were leaving him to the rear, when they were all shot down.

The injury to his right hand is severe.

One of the bones having been shot away but it is believed that he will ultimately recover its use.

The Yankee Army of Robbers.

A gentleman who has just arrived at Jacksonville, Memphis, informs the Mississippi that

Adams & Co's Express cannot furnish adequate transportation for the valuable stolen from private residences by the Federal soldiers. Packages from the size of a trunk down to the size of a bar of toilet soap fill these wagons to their utmost capacity, and the goods are being sent North to the families and friends of the robbers. The amount of stolen valuables thus sent out of the country is astonishing. Family plate, mirrors, carpets, paintings and thousands of articles, whose value will just-ify transportation, are thus daily moving out by boat loads. In the Federal camps fine Brussels carpets are to be found on the floors of tents; fine bureau fine pianos, etc., etc.

There seems to be but one ruling thought and ruling passion actuating the Yankee invaders, and that is plunder.

To make money—to get rich—to grasp wealth, by trade, by bargain and sale of any commodity from conscience and honor down to cast off Quartermasters' cast off goods and passers. No matter what—no matter when or where—no matter how—only offer money and the Yankee is bought. He will steal when he can—rob when he may—trade when it is practicable—cheat his own Government, sell his own government—only to get money by the operation.

Notice.

THE Court of County Commissioners of Calhoun county, Ala., will hold a special term on the 3d day of June,

1863, for the purpose of distributing the 3d installment of the Soldiers'

Fund for said county, for the year

1863. The Bearer names are requested to send in the names of each indigent soldier's family, as is entitled to share in said distribution and who have not been heretofore reported, or they will be excluded from the benefits of said distribution. This 16th day of May 1863.

$50 REWARD.

STRAYED OR STOLEN from the subscriber, living five miles south of Ashville, St. Clair county, Ala., on the night of the 29th ult., a bay filly three years old,

13 hands high, somewhat dark on her legs near her breast. A bridle was stolen at the same time, with an old double headstall and new reins. Said nag was last seen going up Cross river towards Gadsden, with a heavy set, yellow complected negro on her back, bare headed and bare footed, with a harm of meat in his lip.

I will pay the above reward for said nag and proof to convict the thief, or I will reward

any person liberally for any information that may lead to her recovery.

JOHN W. MCKEON.

istrator of the estate of Benjamin D. Geer, dec'd, and filed his accounts and vouchers for a final settlement and distribution of said estate. It is therefore ordered by the court that Monday, the 15th day of June next, be set for examining and auditing said accounts and for a final distribution of said estate; it is further ordered by the court that notice of the time and place of said settlement be given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper published in said county, for three weeks, as a notice to all persons interested in said estate to be and appear at my office in the town of Jacksonville on said 15th day of June next, to contest said settlement if they desire. May 16, 1863. A. WOODS, Judge of Probate.

NEW HOTEL

AND

STAGE HOUSE.

The undersigned respectfully informs the public that he has opened a new hotel, on the north side of main street, in the building recently occupied by and connected with the extensive Livery Stable of James H.

Privett, where every effort will be made to entertain and accommodate the traveling public. His table will be furnished with the best market affords, and no pains spared to merit liberal patronage. The stages will leave every morning, except Monday, for Rome, at six o'clock, and for Blue Mountain, head of the Railroad, at 9 o'clock in the evening upon the arrival of the stage from Rome.

There is a good and commodious Livery

Stable attached to the House, by which passengers on irregular routes can always be accommodated.
